Bunyip has questions, but not a lot of answers

By Shae Ford

If you couldn't make it to the Hanson's Community Information Session, due to the inconvenient time of 6pm, then you missed a passionate display of community will. We were invited to meet the newly appointed Project Manager at the Bunyip Hall and to learn about the upcoming Environmental Effects Statement (EES) process.

The meeting started with over 70 concerned residents filling the hall, but by 6:20pm there were over 150 people. It seemed the time set for the meeting did not put off residents from attending. Hanson's Project Manager, Daniel Fyfe, and EES Project Manager, Stephanie Salinas, introduced themselves and then explained that the form we had been given at the door was to be filled in to assist Hanson in their quest for a successful EES process. We were told Jack Krohn, Senior Impact Assessor from the Department of Environment, Land, Water and Planning (DELWP) was running late.

It was at this point that hands started to rise. Daniel and Stephanie tried to deflect the questions and advised there'd be other opportunities, because this was meant to be an "information session" about the EES. But the hands did not go down, nor did they for the entire 2-hour meeting.

"Who are behind the cameras?" one resident asked. Daniel answered he had no idea who was recording the meeting, only to be informed that there were local media attending. The meeting appeared on Channel 9 News and in the Warragul Gazette, and even made front page of the Pakenham Gazette.

There were lots of complaints about the level of information released by Hanson and the general lack of communication with the community over the last ten years. Unfortunately, Daniel's responses became quite defensive and he repeatedly replied that he had not worked for Hanson at the time so he did not know what had occurred and therefore couldn't answer questions. The crowd responded with heated murmurs and more people stood to ask questions.

It started to feel like Hanson did not want questions asked of them. Were they just going through the motions to meet the requirements of the EES?

Stephanie then stepped in to outline the need for a "process of engagement" and admitted they weren't quite prepared for all the questions, despite the amount of comments on social media. She said that even though another information night wasn't planned, acknowledged there was a need for another one.

Daniel informed the crowd that based on previous studies done on the site there was nothing to suggest that the EES would not comply with the Act, and that Hanson wanted to be part of the community; to which the crowd laughed.

As the night went on the crowd began to build against Hanson with more questions being asked and answers not being provided. A next door pastoralist to the quarry site asked how Hanson had acquired land designated for agriculture. Daniel responded there was nothing that could be done now and apologised that the land was originally acquired for agricultural purposes.

The hall then got very heated. Someone asked how test drilling had occurred by Hanson when surrounding properties were limited to the depth they could drill on their land. Someone else asked why Hanson called the area of the quarry Garfield North when in fact it was Bunyip North. Another asked how many jobs would be given to the locals in the hall. The answer time and time again from Hanson was fill in your forms so we can answer your questions in the EES.

In summary Stephanie stated it was not Hanson's intention to have all questions answered that night, and they would use the information gathered from the forms to hopefully answer them in the future. I really hope Hanson do use the forms we bothered to fill out, as by not answering the community's questions, they have just successfully created greater community resistance.

At 7pm we were told that Jack Krohn from DELWP had turned up, but as the meeting had already gone for an hour, we were asked should Hanson postpone to another time. A resounding answer from the crowd was, "No, let him speak now!". Jack then went through the scoping requirements of the EES, which can be found at www.delwp.vic.gov.au, and he then answered all questions put to him in an informative way. Jack finished at 8 pm and commented on how encouraging it was to see so many people still engaged in discussion after such a long meeting.

So what can be taken from the meeting? There is no need for Hanson to justify why there needs to be a quarry. They're paying for the EES and they'll judge the assessment before it's sent to the minister.

The best advice of the night came from a resident in the crowd. He said that to challenge the EES our community needs our own experts and we need to start a 'Panel Committee'. This quarry will impact a large percentage of our community; Bunyip, Bunyip North, Tonimbuk, Mt Cannibal, Garfield, Garfield North... and let's not forget the extra traffic.

But what can you do to help? Send a letter to a minister. The more noise that comes from our community the more chance we have of opposing this super-sized quarry. The Mt. Cannibal & District Preservation Group have even made it easy for you, visit www.stopthebunyipnorthquarry.com/letters-to-ministers and download one of their example letters along with minister contact details, and start your protest today.

Hillview's Easter high tea

By Roman Kulkewycz

A magnificent Easter high tea was enjoyed last week by residents to celebrate Easter. Hillview Activities Coordinator, Debra Snelten, cooked and made just about every imaginable Easter treat that we could think of.

Lovely fresh hot cross buns with real butter. A delicious bread dip. A beautifully decorated chocolate house. Cream cheese and yoghurt filling with a dab of apricot jam inside a half shell of a large chocolate Easter egg. Melt in your mouth cheese cakes. And that's just to name a few.

Following the afternoon tea, Duncan Holman thanked Deb on behalf of the residents for helping to make the residents' Easter more enjoyable.

Digestive disorders

By Robert Jacobs, Naturopath

Something that attracted me, and still does, to my profession is the fact that the theories and practices of traditional medicine have, and always will remain constant and consistent.

A healthy digestive system is probably the basis of wellness. In this article I will write about two contrasting, yet intermingled problems relating to our digestive system, constipation and diarrhoea.

Constipation

Constipation is defined as the difficulty in passing stools (bowel motions) and incomplete or infrequent passing of stools, whether the motions are hard or soft. Diet is a very important part of maintaining good bowel health.

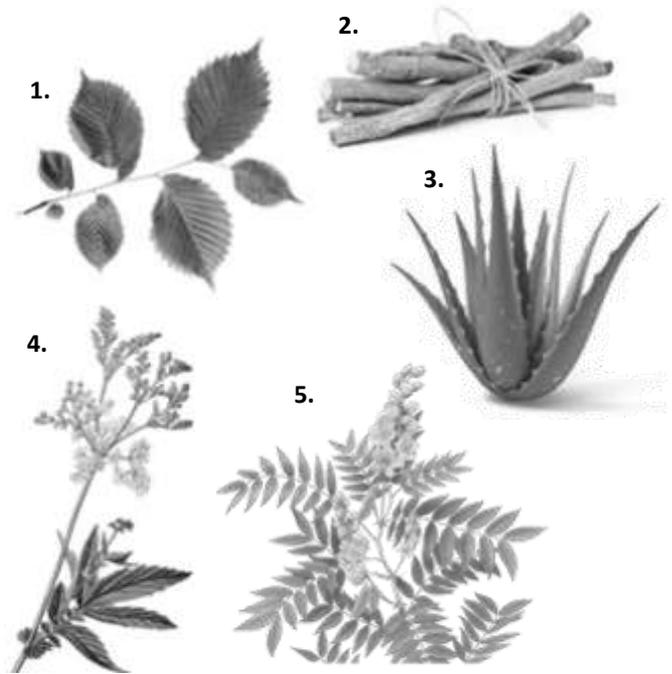

A diet containing plenty of fibre is usually most effective (though over the years I have had several clients who have actually had their symptoms improved by the intake of less fibre, this is unusual but not to be dismissed). A healthy intake of water (six to eight glasses per day) and regular exercise are essential.

Our bowel motions are expelled by the act of peristalsis, which requires the muscles to move the motion out of our system. While many laxatives can help going to the toilet, they may also act to diminish the natural peristaltic action. We need to be careful of this.

Not going to the toilet when you need to go is also an issue. There are many drugs, including a lot of pain killers, that may diminish the natural action of the digestive system. Herbs such as senna, cascara sagrada, aloe vera, licorice root and slippery elm have been shown to be extremely beneficial. Taking these herbs should be done in a controlled and supervised manner.

Diarrhoea

Diarrhoea is the increase in frequency, fluidity and volume of bowel movements. The cause of diarrhoea is many and varied. Diet, allergy, infection, laxative abuse, reaction to certain drugs, and nerve related problems are among the many contributing factors that may cause diarrhoea symptoms. It is often accompanied by pain, discomfort and an urgency to go to the toilet.

1. Slippery elm; 2. Licorice root; 3. Aloe vera; 4. Meadowsweet; 5. Senna.

During an episode of acute diarrhoea, food consumption should be kept at a minimum. Dairy should be avoided. Diluted fruit juice and vegetable juices assist in keeping the electrolyte levels up. Grated apples are also beneficial. If the diarrhoea is caused by a gastrointestinal infection, sugars should be avoided as well.

During the acute phase, herbs such as marshmallow, meadowsweet and slippery elm are very effective in helping to reduce the severity and duration of the attack. There are quite a few homeopathic remedies that I have used successfully to relieve diarrhoea and gastric problems in general. Once the attack starts to subside, it is important to replace bowel flora by taking a good pro-biotic for a few days, and slowly build the diet back to normal, minimising fats and proteins for a little while.

It should be noted that this information relates to acute attacks of these illnesses. If symptoms persist, it may be something that is more chronic and there are many different and effective treatments for these cases as well with professional assistance.

Hillview Bunyip Aged Care's community mural art project

By Roman Kulkewycz

This blank wall, in the 'Shelley House' Memory Support Unit garden at Hillview has been transformed into a serene farmyard setting mural by Bunyip artist Karen Danielson and a few very talented and dedicated volunteers in less than a month.

Residents will be able to sit, relax and enjoy this scene in the quiet surrounds of the garden, however, the mural is not quite finished and still needs a little more work to be finally completed.

A big thank you to Debra Snelten, Activities Coordinator at Hillview for organising the Mural and also thank you to Bunnings at East Pakenham for providing all of the paint for this project.

Cub Scouts are boys and girls between 8 and 11 years of age. The Cub Scout program provides a group environment which is intellectually stimulating, physically vital and directed towards satisfying the child's basic need to face and overcome challenges.

The activities are based on the natural sense of fun and enthusiasm of the age group and thus the training is achieved largely through games, interaction in small groups and activities.

If you're interested in checking out the 1st Bunyip Cub Group as Ethan suggests, then visit them at the Scout Hall on Nar Nar Goon-Longwarry Road in Bunyip or contact Scouts Australia on www.vicscouts.com.au or call 03 8543 9800.

Mind matters with Jessica – More positive parenting

By Jessica Peters, Pomegranate Mind Therapy, Hypnotherapist and Life Coach

Being a parent comes with many challenges. One of the biggest issues that I deal with in my practice in the area of family and relationships is parents wanting to understand their children's behaviour. Specifically why do they do the things they do, why do certain behaviours frustrate parents so much and how at such a young age do they seem to know where all our buttons are? Just how do they know where to poke the sword and how to twist it for maximum effect?

Whether you're a well-seasoned parent, finding yourself smiling or nodding with familiarity and understanding or whether you're like myself – deep in the throes of child raising with no light at the end of the tunnel, I'm sure you'll find this article very interesting and informative. At the least hopefully you'll find it somewhat amusing! The key points I'm about to make are relevant to children of all ages; anywhere from the 'terrible twos' all the way through to the teen years.

I must warn you though, do prepare yourself as the honest truth can be confronting. For this reason I encourage you to give yourself (or other parents in your circle that you may find yourself surreptitiously passing judgement on) the utmost respect as you begin to reflect on your own parenting style, your child's behaviour and also your own. Be sure that this parenting thing is no mean feat, so it's important to remember that everybody does the best they can with the skills they have and the resources that are available to them at the time.

One of the greatest nuggets of wisdom that I've ever heard in my life is a quote by Swiss Psychiatrist and Psychoanalyst Carl G. Jung who said;

"Everything that irritates us about others, leads us to an understanding of ourselves."

This is so relevant to the parent-child relationship. Our children are there to teach us about ourselves. Some belief systems go so far as to suggest that our children 'chose' us before they were born in order to teach us the great life lessons that are unique to each of us. Whether you accept such a notion or not, it cannot be denied that becoming a parent is certainly a rite of passage or significant transformational process. One cannot simply be the same person after having experienced it. Our children not only bring out and develop our strengths, they equally point out our weaknesses and flaws, and they do so with such raw and innocent honesty.

Three keys towards more positive parent / child relationships

1. Respond in the moment to what you child needs, not what you think you needed as a child, or how you were parented.

This is difficult as we all have a tendency to stay within the familiar patterns that we know, or what we think is right. However, the same shoe doesn't fit everybody, and the best way to meet children's needs is by knowing them deeply. What they like, what they don't like, how they learn, how they think, what makes them happy / sad etc. When you know these intimate details, you can respond to them more appropriately. In a difficult interaction, stay calm and ask yourself, 'What does my child need from me right now?'

Mind matters with Jessica – More positive parenting (cont'd)

2. Reflect on your own behaviour, especially your reactions and try to understand how your child is teaching you and enabling you to grow as a person.

If you notice yourself getting angry or frustrated at a particular behaviour or character trait, understand that this may be because you are in fact doing this behaviour yourself and your child is mirroring you. It takes courage, but do begin to have a good look at yourself and ask, 'Do I do this behaviour myself?' or 'Do I have this quality in myself?' you may be surprised by the answer.

3. Learn your child's love language. Everybody gives and receives love differently. Your children are no different. Ensure that your child can 'hear' that they are valued by you in their own language.

If your child's love language is 'quality time' and yours is 'words of affirmation' it won't matter how many times you say 'I love you' or 'you're important', the child simply won't understand his or her value unless you spend quality time with them. Learn about your child's personality and how they renew themselves, i.e. are they introverted (need time out alone to recharge) or extraverted (love to be with others or in groups to feel energised.) Understanding this enables you to give your child more of what they need. Children need to 'feel' better, in order to 'behave' better. I recommend reading the book 'The 5 Love Languages of Children', by Gary Chapman and Ross Campbell, if you haven't already.

If you want to improve your relationship with your child/ren, it's up to you to take the opportunity to learn and grow through your interactions, take responsibility for where you're currently at and also have a positive intention to move forward.

I hope you all have a wonderful Easter with your family and friends. Please feel free to send any questions or comments to jessica@pgmt.com.au. If you'd like to step your parenting up a notch and improve your relationships please feel free to have a chat to me about my coaching packages. I look forward to hearing from you.

Talkin' Fishin'... The Omeo high

By The TackleMan®

Only recently I had the chance to get away with a mate and experience a fishing trip to Omeo. Having never been there before I didn't know what to expect but had heard great things about the place. If you've never been to Omeo before, the town is on the Great Alpine Road, just east of Mount Hotham.

As we were only going to be there for three days, it wasn't worth pitching a tent, and as we are both getting a bit past the "roughing it" stage in life, a caravan park cabin is a little luxury and has a few home comforts like a shower and a TV to return to after a long day on the river.

Omeo's township is a historic and beautiful place, full of very helpful and friendly people and storekeepers, and is set in the hills leading to the Omeo Valley with many rivers and creeks to explore and fish on the fly and lures.

And yes... a fly fisherman and a spinman can fish side by side, still catch fish and remain friends at the end of the trip. You only have to be considerate of each other's space and casting requirements. You can even advise each other of the best method of approach and spot fish for each other. Fly will work in an area that a lure can't and vice versa.

We share a common interest in the same fishing but with different methods. Along with a friendly competitiveness with each other in a challenging but rewarding terrain, it wasn't just about the catch and release of our quarry, but the spectacular views and peace and quiet and... arrgh... the serenity!

One day all we saw was one Ute and a team of horses roaming the paddocks and that was it. We spent the day there on the small but productive Cobungra River above Angler's Rest, and what an appropriate name that is.

The Mitta Mitta River winds its way through the Omeo Valley towards Lake Dartmouth, flowing through fields and gated but accessible paddocks beside the gravel road, washing over pebble and sand beds and forcing its way around large boulders sitting like hippos in the middle of the stream. It's strange how sometimes the levels of the land makes the water appear to be going in the wrong direction.

This diverse habitat gives the fish a chance to feed and breed in surroundings that are as natural as possible. The variations in the environment and landscape means that lure and fly changes are necessary to accommodate the different depths, flow speeds and different feeding patterns of the target species; mainly brown and rainbow trout.

One of our greatest pleasures was being able to walk cleanly along the streams banks, unimpeded by fences or fighting through blasted blackberries, giving you the chance to just keep fishing for miles if you wished. This was a trip I would gladly do again, and I look forward to discovering more about the area and its waterways when the levels change through the different seasons. It was great to find that Omeo lived up to its reputation. I hope it never changes. Catcha...

Cataracts

By © MIMS Australia, 2017

What is a cataract?

A cataract is a clouding (opaqueness) of the normally clear lens of the eye. Cataracts are inevitable, to some degree, as we get older. Almost all of us will have some degree of cataract by the time we are 80.

What are the causes of cataracts?

The main cause of cataracts is getting older. Some factors that increase your risk of cataract include the following.

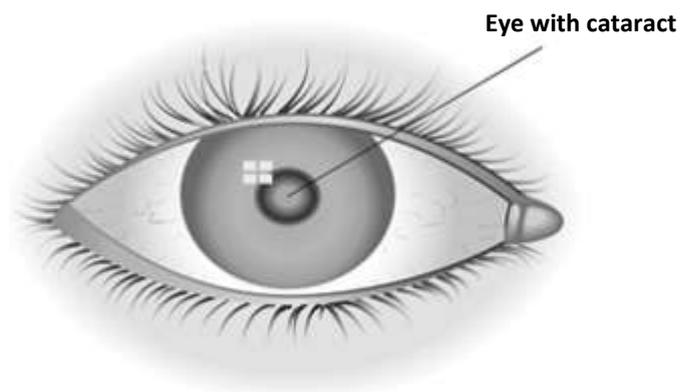

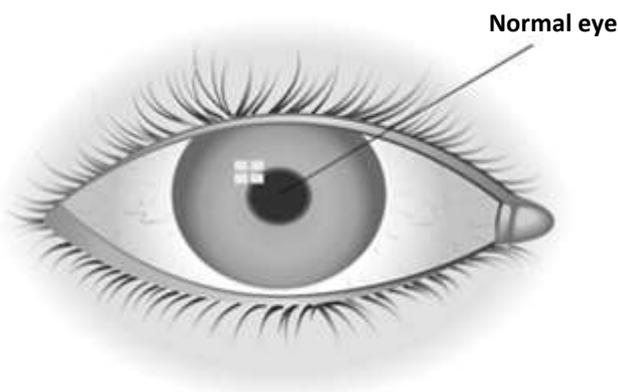

- Long-term unprotected exposure to UV sunlight.
- Smoking.
- Diabetes.
- A family history of cataracts.
- Injury to the eye.
- Chronic inflammation in the eye
- Use of steroid drugs for a prolonged time.

Some cataracts are caused by inherited genetic disorders. Rubella infection in the womb can cause cataracts that are present from birth.

What are the symptoms of cataracts?

The problem caused by cataracts is that they interfere with vision. The lens of the eye is normally clear and focuses the light entering the pupil onto the retina—the light-sensitive layer at the back of the eye—to produce sharp images. A cataract scatters the light, blurring the images on the retina. Typically, people with cataract complain about difficulty in reading, recognising faces and driving at night. They may be sensitive to glare or see colours as faded or yellow.

What are cataracts?

What is the treatment for cataracts?

The only effective treatment for a cataract is an operation. The damaged lens is removed and usually an artificial lens implant (called an intraocular lens, IOL) is inserted in its place. The operation may be done under local anaesthetic and requires only a short stay in hospital. Drops may be needed for some time afterwards and strenuous activity should be avoided.

The decision to operate depends entirely on how much the cataract interferes with your vision and ability to lead a normal life.

If you are in your 60s or older and your vision is deteriorating because of a cataract, then lens surgery might transform your life. Avoiding too much sunlight, and wearing a good pair of sunglasses in your younger years might help you avoid or postpone the need for an operation.

Implant of an artificial lens (IOL)

CLUB NOTICES

Bunyip–Garfield Probus Club

The walking group's first outing for the year was to Noojee to do what is known as the 'Noojee-Lock Walk'. After the walk we had a picnic lunch before heading home. Many thanks to the people who organise these lovely walks. The next one will be to Mount Worth.

Our Annual General Meeting was held at the March meeting. The President thanked last year's office bearers before stepping down and the new Committee was voted in for the coming year. One of the couples from our club then spoke about tracing their family history which was very interesting. They also provided lots of ways that we could trace our own family history.

The following day we went to the Cardinia Culture Centre to see a great musical show called 'Great Composers of London's West End'. Philip Gould, along with two other singers, entertained us with songs by the likes of Lloyd Webber, Lionel Bart and Elton John and many other that have had their musicals shine on the London stage. Another great outing to start the year off.

Junior report

By Anne-Marie Helmore, Junior Coordinator

A great summer of junior tennis in the West Gippsland Tennis Association (WGTA) Summer 2016–2017 Season has recently concluded; culminating in the Grand Final on Saturday 25th March. The finals series were played at Pakenham Regional Tennis Centre, Webster Way, Pakenham.

Bunyip again had the most number of teams competing in the WGTA this season. 11 teams competed across all sections from Section 1 through to Section 6. We had exciting club results again this season with two teams going straight through to the Grand Final – Section 2 Bunyip White and Section 5 Bunyip Blue.

Three teams competed in the Preliminary Finals – Section 1 Bunyip Blue, Section 2 Bunyip Red and Section 3 Bunyip Blue.

Section 1 Bunyip Blue won their Preliminary Final resulting in a total of three Bunyip teams competing in the Grand Finals – Section 1: Maryknoll vs. Bunyip Blue; Section 2 Bunyip White vs. Tynong; Section 5 Bunyip White vs. Cardinia / KWR.

Section 5 Bunyip Blue successfully won their section, while Section 1 Bunyip White and Section 2 Bunyip Blue finished the season as runners up. The WGTA presentation followed with individual trophies and club pennants presented to players.

Many of our Juniors are coached by the club coaching program, Ace Active Tennis here at Bunyip Tennis Club (BTC), and this is the main reason why we have so many junior teams entered into the WGTA competition.

On Sunday, 26th March at 4:15 pm, we held our Annual Bunyip Tennis Club Junior Presentation in our brand new Bunyip Tennis / Netball Club pavilion!

Team Managers gave brief summaries of their team's season and presented their players with participation cans of balls for Sections 1 to 4; and trophies were presented to players in Section 5 and 6. Team Managers were also presented with Appreciation Certificates and a box of chocolates.

It was great to see lots of families attend the presentation and families take to the courts to play during the afternoon. A big thank you to the BTC Committee for providing drinks, trophies, chocolates and sausages for the Junior Presentation.

Special thanks to the following people.

- All of our Team Managers.
- All of our families for their support and encouragement during the season.
- The BTC Committee for their generous provision of medals and BBQ supplies.
- Lawrence for kindly lending us his BBQ for the day and cooking all the sausages with Gary.
- Our coach, Chris Millidonis for his enthusiastic coaching and support of our competition teams.
- And a special thank you to our Junior tennis families for my beautiful flowers!

At the end of the presentation I announced that I would be retiring as Junior Coordinator and appealed to a group of families to take over my role for the upcoming Junior 2017–2018 season, which starts in September / October. Looking forward to seeing Junior tennis continue to thrive in Bunyip!

If you think you can help, or have any queries, please contact Chris Millidonis at Ace Active Tennis on 0404 077 673.

Bunyip Fire Brigade – ready to serve

The weather is getting a bit chilly and people are thinking about lighting their fireplaces but... have you checked the chimney or flue for a build up of soot lately?

It's important to consider the following before stating your first fire in the fireplace for the year.

- What condition is the flue or chimney?
- Have birds left a nest behind?
- Remember to always check before you light that fire to prevent damage to your property.

Just because fire restrictions have been lifted in the Cardinia Shire doesn't mean that your small burn off is safe or can be left unattended.

Recently we have turned out to several private burns where the conditions were not at all safe. If it is windy or dry, then please do not light that heap of rubbish or pile of branches.

Remember that before you light up you need to abide by the Council Open Air Burning regulations and phone 1 800 668 511 to register your burn off.

Reminder of our Automated External Defibrillator (AED) training Chain of Survival Workshop on 2nd May at the Tynong Fire Station. This presentation by Ambulance Victoria will provide you with the knowledge to operate an AED. Please refer to page 16 in this edition of the newsletter for details.

We recently held our Biennial Election with the following people elected to run the brigade for the next two years commencing on 1st July 2017.

Position	Name
Captain	John Cooper
1st Lieutenant	Jason Boler
2nd Lieutenant	John Legione

Monthly local police update (22nd January to 23rd March, 2017)

By Sergeant Danny Hower, Victoria Police

Hope you are all well and looking after each other. We've been busy so far this year and have plenty more to do – all locally beneficial I hope.

A brief update on some of the long-term things we have been working on.

- The suspect loitering and criminal behaviour occurring in the rest area next to the public toilets on the service road between Garfield North Road and Gumbuya Park.
  - Cardinia Proactive Policing Unit has conducted an 'Environmental Safety & Security Audit' of the area and has made formal recommendations to improve the area.
  - Meetings held with Vic Roads (responsible for maintenance of the area) and Gumbuya Park management (not responsible) in developing further strategies to improve the area.
  - Police have been regularly patrolling and recorded 12 recent police 'Field contacts' after 'liaising' with people for suspect behaviour.
- Illegal deer hunting and criminal activity in and around the Bunyip State Park areas.
  - Parks Victoria and Police are now working together to report and investigate all known instances of crime such as firearm offences, trespassing, gate and environmental damage, and large functions / parties without permits.
  - Any instances of known illegal shooting being reported is now recorded as a criminal offence.
  - Regular controlled culls with permits on private properties are continuing.
- Early morning speeding drivers in local townships.
  - Unfortunately we continue to have a high success rate issuing tickets to local males born before 1980 who were going to work.

Following on from last year's local football grand final, we'll be working with WGFNL, EDFL and local clubs regarding league and club responsibilities in relation to sporting cultures, liquor licensing requirements, police expectations, and the relationship between all of these and family violence as well as road safety when people leave the club. We will have local police tasked to attend all home games to assist with local education and positive reinforcement.

We also met with Stewart Taylor, Police Southern Metro Aboriginal Community Liaison Officer (non-police member), regarding local culture and traditions in the hope to progress our involvement and understanding of Aboriginal culture and history.

Here are some of the other police things dealt with locally over the last two months.

- 47 criminal incidents were reported in the 'Bunyip' police response zone (Longwarry – Nar Nar Goon and Bunyip State Park – Modella / Iona area).
- Investigated Family Violence Incidents – five in Bunyip; two each in Longwarry and Tynong, one each in Garfield and Nar Nar Goon.
- Investigated with CIU on burglaries and property thefts in the Garfield area – this led to the arrest of a 41 year old man previously from Pakenham who was occasionally residing in Garfield.
- Arrested a 37 year old Pakenham man in Garfield after he was nearly run over by numerous vehicles while walking on the Highway and smashed a 67 year old ladies car mirror as she drove by on Garfield Road.
- Arrested a 35 year old Warragul man who was located hiding in Bunyip by the Police Helicopter after a police pursuit and traffic offences.

Motor vehicle accidents attended by police in the area over the last two months.

- Nar Nar Goon involving a cyclist.
- Maryknoll involving a stolen car being driven by a woman wanted on warrants.
- Tynong North where a car ran into the back of a stopped bus.
- Modella where a truck lost control and ran off the road.
- Highway at Bunyip a 37 year old Doveton woman ran off the road after falling asleep while driving an unregistered car with two children in it.
- Highway at Garfield a 27 year old Mooroolbark man inexplicably ran into the back of parked car while travelling at 100 kmh.

We rely on community feedback and updates to get the best results for everyone. So please communicate with us about anything, as we think most things matter. If it is unusual or out of the ordinary for you – then it probably is for us as well.

A tribute to ANZAC Day

By Ken Bunker

With their hair a little whiter, their step not quite so sure
Still they march on proudly as they did the year before.
Theirs were the hands that saved us, their courage showed the way
Their lives they laid down for us, that we may live today.

From Gallipoli's rugged hillsides, to the sands of Alamein
On rolling seas and in the skies, those memories will remain.
Of airmen and the sailors, of Lone Pine and Suvla Bay
The boys of the Dardenelles are remembered on this day.

They fought their way through jungles, their blood soaked desert sands
They still remember comrades who rest in foreign lands.
They remember the siege of old Tobruk, the mud of the Kokoda Trail
Some paying the supreme sacrifice with courage that did not fail.
To the icy land of Korea, the steamy jungles of Vietnam
And the heroic battle of Kapyong and that epic victory at Long Tan.

Fathers, sons and brothers, together they fought and died
That we may live in peace together, while at home their mothers cried.
When that final bugle calls them to cross that great divide
Those comrades will be waiting when they reach the other side.
