12th Annual Quilt And Craft Show

The popular annual Hillview Quilt and Craft Show will run over three days next month from Friday the 19th to Sunday the 21st of August opening from 9:30am till 3:00pm each day. A large number of people from all over Gippsland is expected to attend over this weekend.

The Quilt and Craft display will be at Hillview Aged Care, 22 A'Beckett Road in Bunyip. It is run by the Friends of Hillview which is a community committee of volunteers that raises funds through various activities to purchase items of equipment for the staff and residents at Hillview Aged Care. "We have a hard working dedicated committee and receive great support from the community", said Mrs Dickinson.

From humble beginnings twelve years ago, this annual event has grown to become one of this areas top draw cards attracting exhibitors and visitors from near and far.

Show organiser Barbara Dickinson said that the quality of the quilts on display last year showed that more people are taking up the art of quilting and some are producing and showing magnificent quilts.

To submit an entry is only $2 and quilters are encouraged to show off their work. There will also be Patchwork and Craft stalls, a BBQ, Stationary Engine display as well as delicious Devonshire Teas. "Our Quilt Show draws interest from a wide circle of Gippsland residents, who have come back each year as well as attracting new visitors", said Barbara.

Enquiries can be made to Barbara on 0407 294 326

President's Report 2015 -2016

This past year has certainly had its up and downs and the commitment from our members has been terrific. The birth of John McKimmie's twins was a real highlight, health struggles by some members and members partners has been the down. The year started at our changeover at In2Food in Warragul seeing off the great year from Graeme Squires and team.

One of our early speaker nights was Annette & Robin talking about and explaining the concept of the Rotary Nomads. They were minding a property in Tonimbuk at the time and volunteered to return and help us at the car show, which they did. Our first project was to upgrade the BBQ Trailer. Upgrades and adjustments were by Graeme Moore and myself. Sandblasting donated by Sam Papas, full repaint by Syd Lewis, it came up a treat and has worked well. Our partner's night at the Robin Hood Hotel was our first with our last being at the Koo Wee Rup Hotel. Bit of a pattern there but all partners nights were good social gatherings that were very well attended. We had good guest speakers throughout the year, Bill Pearson on the Tonimbuk Quarry and later in the year Danial Fyfe talking on behalf of the Quarry. The night we had Olympic Skier Jacki Cooper Pakenham Rotary were invited to join us. Several speakers were from Pakenham Rotary including Alwyn Williams on outback education, Ian Wake on his trip to the Artic region Ken Rook on RVFR and Greg Peck with Caz Walsh on our train system. We also had members of our own club like Graeme Moore on his trip to Japan, John McKimmie giving several interesting talks on his mining involvement and operation and Don & Marg's daughter Karen on "My Cambodia" John Legione also organised the Big Red Firetruck for a first hand demonstration on its capabilities. We had other interesting speaker nights and I thank those who participated and those that organised them. We used the BBQ trailer throughout the year at the Car Show, Main St Christmas, Antique Fair, Australia Day etc. Bunnings and Masters BBQ's were also put to use.

Our Xmas Wheelbarrow Raffle was well supported by Club Members and the public buying tickets. It was drawn at IGA on the morning of our Xmas Breakup. Graeme and Lyn Squires once again generously opened up their home and put on a great Christmas breakup.

Early in the New Year we had our annual bowls night with Pakenham Rotary, continuing our clos ties. A new initiative was the Valentine's Day Dance at the Old Garfield Theatre. Numbers were down on what we had hoped but all those that attended had a very enjoyable afternoon. Feedback was only positive so we look forward to a bigger and better rollup next time. In march Laura McKimmie gave birth to twins, a brother and sister to Archer and another son and a daughter for proud dad John.

Our Golf Day at Garfield Golf Club went well with everybody putting in on the day. Bill Clapp had once again organised everything well our thanks also to Terry Webster for again supporting our club with this annual event.

The Drouin Motorfest started in the wet but ended up two days of full on smoke, noise and smell of rubber and work for us. Lyn Squires provided lunch and drinks for the weekend which was very much appreciated. Thanks to Drouin Rotary for involving us in this annual fundraising event, we look forward to next year. I am definitely taking a break from car parking and going in those drift cars next time.

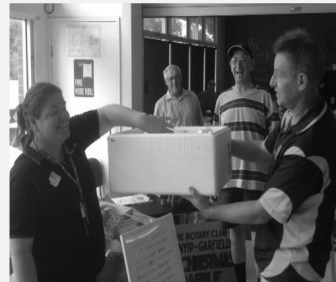

The Bunyip Cemetery seats project in commemoration of Rupert Mathews were unveiled in front of some of his family members and Rotarians.

In partnership with Pakenham Rotary we will be running a Car Show with a competition vehicle display at the Too-muc Reserve on Princes Highway, Pakenham on the 13th November. This first time event promises to be something special.

I would like to thank all Club Members for their support throughout the year. Marg and Jo's continued participation is appreciated and most welcomed by all. Lyn Squires has done a great job.

Council is joining the 'neighbourhood'

Cardinia Shire Council has been selected as one of three metropolitan councils to participate in The Neighbourhood Project.

As a successful applicant, Cardinia Shire Council will be provided with 12 months of mentoring, training and funding to empower and inspire local people to come together to activate underused locations across the shire, into highly valued community spaces.

Cardinia Shire Council Mayor Cr Jodie Owen is pleased to announce Council's selection in the program.

"The Neighbourhood Project will help us to lead positive and long-term change in our shire to enhance the wellbeing of all our residents, and create more connected, healthy and safe communities.

Heritage grants open for 2016-17

Applications are now open for Council's 2016-17 heritage grants.

Cardinia Shire Mayor Cr Jodie Owen said local heritage landmarks helped shape the identity of Cardinia Shire.

Dear Barry,
I enjoyed reading the 21 June issue of the News;
however I would like to comment on the article titled The Last Post.

The story as related by anon. is often seen elsewhere as an account of the origin of the American Taps.

However this story is not even correct in relation to the origin of Taps - Google 'Snopes' and 'Taps'.
Further, Taps has no relation to the British and Australian Last Post, that began in Britain in its own right - Google Wikipedia and The Last Post, or similar.

Kind regards, in the interests of historical accuracy,
Barry Higgins.

Rates – new options, new look

Cardinia Shire Council will issue the 2016–17 rates notice in July, with a new look and more ways to pay.

The new rates notice highlights when your quarterly instalment is due, and makes it easier to understand how your rates are calculated by showing a clearer breakdown of Council, Victorian Government and waste charges. Council will also introduce its new 'FlexiPay' payment tool, allowing you to pay your rates at certain times to best suit your budget.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT ANTIBIOTICS

What is an antibiotic and what does it do?

Antibiotics are medications that are used to treat and prevent infections that are caused by bacteria. They are ineffective against infections that are caused by viruses. The common cold and the flu are caused by viruses and this would be the reason why your doctor may refuse to give antibiotics for this infection.

Misappropriate use of antibiotics may cause bacteria to become resistant to antibiotic treatments.

The mechanism of action of individual antibiotics within the body and the types of bacteria they work against differs. Hence we have different groups of antibiotics, such as penicillins, tetracycline, cephalosporin's, macrolide (erythromycin) etc that are used to treat different kinds of infections. Your doctor will prescribe you the most appropriate antibiotic for the particular infection that you have, specific to the bacteria that usually causes it.

You do need to tell your doctor if you have any allergies to medicine and taking any over-the-counter, complementary or natural medicines. You need to also tell your doctor if he or she is unfamiliar with any chronic condition that you may have, such as asthma, heart, liver or kidney problems. Of course advise your GP if you are pregnant or breast-feeding.

It is important to follow instructions on when, how, and for how long to take the antibiotics. These instructions will be on the label attached to your packet by your pharmacist. Some antibiotics should not be taken with certain foods, while other are best taken with a meal or on an empty stomach. Your prescription label on the packet will generally have this information. Always finish the entire course of antibiotic, even if you feel better. If you stop halfway through your course the antibiotics may not have chance to completely kill off the bacteria. Bacteria could then become resistant to that antibiotic. This means the antibiotics will no longer work against these bacteria. Your symptoms may return and possibly be more severe. Do not share antibiotics with other people. They may be allergic to it, or have a different infection and can further lead to antibiotic resistance.

All medicines have side-effects including antibiotics. Ask your pharmacist for a printout if one isn't included in the packet. Most side-effects are not serious. Generally diarrhoea, nausea and vomiting are common complaints. If you have severe stomach cramps and severe or prolonged diarrhoea then you need to contact your doctor straight away. You may get a fungal infection such as thrush for which you can buy medications without a prescription.

Less commonly, allergic reactions may occur. Advise your doctor as soon as possible if you develop itching and/or a rash. Stop the treatment and seek medical attention from your nearest hospital if you experience a severe reaction with a lumpy rash, breathing difficulty and or swollen lips, tongue or face.

Patients commonly ask Pharmacists if they can have alcohol whilst on antibiotics. It is generally a good idea not to have alcohol if you are not well. Consuming alcohol in moderation is not usually a problem with most antibiotics, but there are some exceptions. Check with your doctor or pharmacist.

JULY NEWS

The first day of July saw the opening of the 2016 Animal Photo Competition, now into its seventh year. As per usual, there are no entry fees, and photographers are invited to submit up to 3 digital images for inclusion in the competition, which closes on the last day of September. Photographers must reside within West Gippsland and the photos must have been taken within the West Gippsland region. We look forward to receiving your entries. Images can be sent to animalrescue@dodo.com.au

Thank you to the local people who have donated towels to BARN in the past month. We will use some ourselves as bedding and will share the remainder with the local rescue groups within our network.

July is National Desexing Month all around Australia, and as always, we encourage the community to be responsible with the animals in their care and please desex them before the breeding season starts again. On that topic, BARN currently has in its care a little black and white kitten who showed up unexpectedly at a local property. We assume he was recently abandoned, as he is quite a friendly little boy. His vet-work has now been done, and he is available for adoption to the right family. Please contact BARN if you would like to know more about him: animalrescue@dodo.com.au

The recent election created some interesting news and highlighted some interesting trends in the voting habits of the Australian people. The Animal Justice Party finished as the fifth most popular party overall in our local McMillan electorate. On a national level, the popularity of Derryn Hinch and his elevation to the role of Senator is likely to have a positive outcome for animals as he speaks out against a variety of injustices.

Sunday 17 July saw the launch of a cruelty-free business in the local area. Congratulations to Lorena for a successful promotional event, and you can see photos from the launch on the BARN's current news webpage. The Velvety website is now live, and while all sales are online, locals will be able to bypass the postage fees and collect their orders directly from a Bunyip address. Visit the website to view a range of apparel and accessories sourced from around the globe, and only from suppliers who have proven to be ethical, sustainable, fair trade and cruelty free: www.velvety.com.au

One lovely person has sent us an internet link to a short video on the Animals Australia website which is entitled: Restore Your Faith In Humanity. It is four magical minutes of footage from around the world showing a remarkable collection of animal rescues. Definitely something to warm our hearts on these cold winter days. The link is on the BARN's current news webpage. Enjoy!

TALKIN' ...FISHIN' ON THE HUNT!

Wow! The cold has set in, the trout season is closed, the winds are howling, and my boats in dry dock, I don't know a reason for a fisherman to get up in the morning?

Shopping, that's the go, not with or for the Wife, but a selfie, by my selfie on a Tackle Hunt! Op shops, Garage sales, Second hand dealers and Clearance sales are all my favourite haunts. Anything that looks or smells fishy is fair game; sometimes the grungier the better, cleaning and playing with fishing tackle is still a fix for me, so long as there is hope of recovery. A reel can be repaired a lure restored and a fly touched up, or at worst copied and re-tied. Some reels are past it, but have some valuable spare parts if you already have one the same. Lures can be blinged up or restored to their original glory, new treble hooks and a paint job...beauty mate! A treasure find of a box of old flies can excite the trout as much as the Angler, mind you some do look like a 20 year old terrier. Disappointment sometimes goes along with it, I missed out on a tray of 140+ locally tied flies in Tassie by a day, I didn't ask the price they sold for though, for fear of tearing up in the guy's presence.

Some of the gear is good enough in its present state to use, or as originals aged gracefully look great hanging in a frame or suspended off the ceiling or hung in that special man cave. Either way being the dedicated tackle rat or bitten for life by the fishing bug, you'll always have one eye open at a market or wherever for that rare item that you just can't help yourself buying, the one thing your mates haven't got one of, just to make them a little jealous. So if I happen to see you on my rounds and you spot anything colourful or shiny, fluffy with fur or feathers with hooks, good luck it's every man for himself.

One of the best understanding and descriptive paragraphs I've read in a long while.

"One of the most important features of tying one's own flies has nothing to do with the direct capture of fish. When a man has a hobby or pastime he very much begrudges having to cut himself off from it for long periods. The fly man whose streams are closed for the season can tie his own flies through the winter, and even look forward to it, and dream of the waiting catch. Many fantastic patterns evolve during the off-season and a few might even be successful. But the joy brought catching a fish on a fly you've tied yourself cannot be measured."..... Fly fishing in

The Kids winter party held on Saturday 18th June was very well attended by local families – there were up to 50 people in attendance. Grandparents are wonderful people, and there were quite a few in the audience, some even coming from Melbourne. The kids had a great time, and all of the food went quickly – fruit drinks, twisties, chips, fruit platter and fairy bread.

Jen was there with her wonderful Butterfly Dance troop, who put on a small concert for a very appreciative and supportive audience. The dancers did a wonderful job and really enjoyed themselves.

Holly from "Hollipops – handmade bibs and bandanas" and Brooke from "Deez Designz – Clips, bows and ribbons", displayed their crafts and both enjoyed the party.

Butterfly Ballet is held each Monday 9.30 at the Bunyip hall, first class is free, ages 2.5 to 5 years old All welcome

Bunyip Tennis Club Inc. News

AGM: Bunyip Tennis Club Inc. will be holding it's AGM on Thursday August 11th 2016 in the Tennis Club House at 7.30pm. All members are invited to attend.

Monday Night Tennis: We are expecting to have enough players for 8 teams in our intra club competition currently held on Monday nights. We are therefore exploring the possibility of running it over 2 nights (Monday and Tuesday) starting next October for the Summer Season.. this is just an advance "thought bubble" for your consideration and feedback about the idea would be most welcome!

Lighting Project: We expect the lighting project to be completed this week and look forward to using our new, environmentally preferable, led lights on a Monday night very soon!!

New Pavilion: The Netball and Tennis clubs will soon be sharing a brand new pavilion. The Shire has agreed to supplement a State Government grant for the building so it will go ahead over next summer season with no financial input from either club.
