Community rallies around bushfire victims

By Roman Kulkewycz

The Bunyip Community Op Shop has been busy assisting victims of the recent bushfires with clothing and household goods. Those wishing information on available assistance can call in to the shop at 7 High St, Bunyip or ring Assistance Coordinator Tony Arrigo on 0407 563 441. Donations are being accepted.

After only managing to save a horse float and their two cats in the bushfire, Marguerite Sharrott and Ray Buckley from Garfield North visited the Bunyip Community Op Shop to stock up on some much needed essentials. Marguerite said that although she and Ray had lost all of their possessions, her sense of humour was helping her to cope with the tragedy.

BlazeAid volunteers are also in Bunyip and will be staying for two to four months to help rebuild fences. You will need to register your property if you wish to be included in this fence building program by visiting the registration area at the Bunyip Recreation Reserve Football Social Rooms.

The 'Feeding Bunyip Blazers' is a group of locals who have come together to prepare breakfast, lunch and dinner for those volunteers arriving for BlazeAid to rebuild fences of fire affected properties. Community groups are invited to volunteer to cook for the volunteers on a roster basis. The more groups we have, the less often we have to cook, so please consider this opportunity to get involved. Bunyip Community House has kindly volunteered to coordinate this program, so if your group would like to help please contact Davina Veenstra on 03 5629 5877.

For those affected by the bushfire and seeking assistance you can email blazeaid.bunyip@gmail.com or contact John Anderson on 0412 382 184. For more information visit www.blazeaid.com.au/bunyip-2019.

The Baw Baw Food Relief Van from Warragul also helped out and was at the Bunyip Recreation Reserve where volunteers handed out groceries to bushfire victims.

Community rallies around bushfire victims (cont'd)

The Baw Baw Food Relief Van set up at the Bunyip Recreation Reserve providing essentials to people affected by the recent bushfires.

Organising meals and rosters for the BlazeAid volunteers at the Bunyip & District Community House are these local ladies. (L-R) Davina Veenstr (Bunyip), Therese Baker (Bunyip), Junelle Wilson (Longwarry), Janelle Box (Labertouche) and Crissty Sherwood (Bunyip). Well done guys... thanks for doing such a great job!

How you can help those affected by recent bushfires

The impact of recent bushfires has affected more than just the fire zone of Bunyip North, Garfield North, Tynong North, Tonimbuk, Cornucopia and Maryknoll, its affected our whole community; and what a great community we have. On social media there has been an outpouring of offers of support and assistance from local people, but also from people as far away as Geelong and Melbourne. For latest updates check the Bunyip Community News Facebook page. Thanks to Sue!

For those locals who aren't able to be directly involved or for those who don't live in the area, you can donate to the Bendigo Bank 2019 Gippsland Bushfire Appeal at www.communityenterprisefoundation.com.au/make-a-donation/appeals/2019-gippsland-bushfire-appeal or visit the Bunyip & District Community Bank® Branch.

The Bunyip Football Club held a Bunyip Community Picnic on last Sunday 17th March to raise funds for those affected by the recent bushfires and have also set up a 'Bunyip Bushfire Appeal' for those who wish to donate www.gofundme.com/bunyip-bushfire-appeal.

How you can get help if you've been affected

Bushfire Support Services has launched a 'A Case Support Program' for people significantly impacted by the fires and will be available for the next 12 months. To access the service, contact your local council or call 1800 560 760. For more information visit www.emergency.vic.gov.au/relief/#case\_support.

BlazeAid is also in town with HQ set up in the Bunyip Netball and Tennis club rooms. The volunteers work side by side with affected farmers using all donated equipment that are set up in trailers which are towed out to each site. The number of volunteers has grown and are fed by community volunteers. Breakfast is served at HQ followed by muster, then volunteers can make their own lunch and snacks with food donated by the community. Upon their return volunteers can have a cuppa (or pour a beer) and relax before dinner which is held at the Bunyip Hall each evening, catered and served by #FeedtheBlazers. For BlazeAid assistance email blazeaid.bunyip@gmail.com.

Talkin' Fishin'... EVA foam craft

By The TackleMan®

EVA foam is similar to wetsuit foam material known as neoprene, although slightly different. Neoprene is a more rubbery consistency than EVA foam, but also has great insulation properties which is why it's used for your stubbie holder, wetsuit or waders. All extremely useful items.

EVA foam is the item I'm concentrating on though. You'll find it used on fishing rod grips, shoe or boot innersole inserts, back-pack padding, flying toys, art supplies and reel protecting cases, furniture protectors, even thongs! Argh... the list is endless!

However the purpose I have for the EVA foam and its properties is entirely for fishing. Its application in this field is useful as it is extremely buoyant, flexible, lightweight, water resistant and comes in variety of vibrant colours.

EVA foam is easily workable and you can cut or sand it into whatever shape you like. It's convenient versatility makes it an ideal product to work with. And you have to be happy with the fact that it can be cheaply purchased at most craft or larger office suppliers. When the foam is cut into thin strips, it can be wound into a fly's construction adding to its buoyancy and making it very visible. Add a few flash fibres and some rubber silly legs and it becomes irresistible to a fish.

EVA foam can also be easily decorated with permanent marker pens or just stick on some eyes. You can add a lot of colour and movement, and in the retrieve along with visible action, it's a deadly combination.

Adding to the foam's diversity, you can use it for float bodies, strike indicators, hook and lure keepers inside tackle and fly boxes, and foam lure bodies and heads. Makes you wonder what else it could be used for?

EVA foam is truly a versatile product that has made more of an impact on our sport than we sometimes realise, rather like another innovation Velcro. Often these two are combined to give us other products like rod wraps or giving us the option to do away with plastic buckles on waders.

Next time you're just doing a browse around in your local tackle shop, take notice, you'll be surprised what products and clothing and equipment have used it.

Toyota Land Cruiser Club ready to lend a hand

Members of the Toyota Land Cruiser Club of Victoria are poised to provide assistance to farmers devastated in the region by the recent fires.

The Club's Emergency Response Group has been activated and members are willing to give of their time, equipment and expertise. The Club has previously worked in many post-disaster operations, including fires at Terang / Garvoc, Flowerdale, Glenburn, Dixons Creek and Kinglake areas, Dereel, and floods at Skipton and Tungamah in northern Victoria.

As one of the largest 4WD Clubs in Victoria, the Club has licensed chainsaw operators, fencers, and many willing hands to remove burnt fences, trees and generally to assist in clean-up activities.

Working in conjunction with Four Wheel Drive Victoria, TLCCV Response Co-Ordinator Sandra Tanner said, "We expect to be joined by other Victorian 4WD Clubs and look forward to having a positive impact in the area."

Mrs Tanner says the Club's first priority is to assist any farmer or landowner in need. Farmers and landowners seeking assistance can request help by contacting Sandra on 0412 526570 or email sbanner@bigpond.com.

Working alongside other organisations providing assistance, expect to see convoys of four wheel drives rolling into town soon. For more information on Toyota Land Cruiser Club of Victoria visit www.tlccv.com.au.

Tynong school escapes approaching bushfire

By Roman Kulkewycz

Burnt leaves and pieces of bark littering the sky and falling to the ground, the sun an ominous orange glow in the morning sky and the streets seemingly deserted. An oncoming lone car passes me, the sole occupant staring straight ahead as if on a mission doesn't acknowledge me, his mind is preoccupied, he doesn't even see me! A shiver runs through my body.

It's 9am on Saturday morning 2nd March and I'm sitting in my car on the Nar Nar Goon-Longwarry Road opposite the railway crossing at Tynong.

I see a heavy threatening plume of smoke in the distance heading towards the town. The air has been filtered by the smoke and the daylight around me has a yellowish tinge. Although the fire is still some distance away, it seems that it is only just down the road and quickly approaching.

On my left I see St. Thomas Aquinas College. It looks like a lonely sitting duck waiting for the fire to consume the whole complex. Earlier at the 8am Mass the parishioners prayed that their school and church would be spared. By late Saturday afternoon, the 5 resident priests at Corpus Christi Catholic Church locked up the priory and the church and evacuated to safety.

A week later and although the fire was still burning, all of the damage was on the northern side of the Princes Highway. The fire did not cross over. The thick smoke and the fire risk eased and the school reopened its doors on Wednesday the 6th. It was the feast day of St. Thomas Aquinas and the planned whole school Mass at the Church went as scheduled, followed by fun and games at the school. It truly was a day of Thanksgiving.

Hillview residents evacuated to safety

By Roman Kulkewycz

Despite the fact that the bushfires that burned in the Bunyip State Park earlier this month were bigger than the ones on Black Saturday ten years ago, no lives were lost, whilst on Black Saturday 173 people lost their lives with this figure climbing to 180 after several people succumbed to their injuries.

On Black Saturday the Hillview Bunyip Aged Care residents were evacuated to Koo Wee Rup hospital for only one night, however this month's bushfire caused serious safety concerns and a decision was made to evacuate the residents on Sunday 3rd March and saw them return on Wednesday 6th.

Most of the residents were transferred by buses and ambulances to the Royal Freemasons Aged Care facility in Moe, whilst the remainder were relocated to Abbey Gardens Aged Care in Warragul and a few going home to families.

Health Matters – Kidney stones

What are kidney stones?

Kidney stones are hard crystalline masses of varying shapes and sizes that form on the inside surface of the kidney. Types of kidney stones include:

- calcium stones — usually calcium oxalate, or calcium phosphate (calcium stones are the most common type of kidney stone);
- uric acid stones;
- cystine stones; and
- stones that are associated with infection, known as struvite stones.

How do kidney stones form?

Kidney stones form when certain substances in a person's urine become too concentrated. This results in minerals and other substances in their urine crystallizing out onto the inner surfaces of the kidney. The crystals can combine to form hard stones.

Normally, urine contains chemicals that inhibit the crystals from forming.

Symptoms

You may have kidney stones and not know about it. Most small kidney stones pass via the ureters (the tubes connecting the kidneys and bladder) into the bladder without causing any problems. However, if you pass a large kidney stone, you will know about it, because you will be in pain, often excruciating pain.

Other symptoms of kidney stones are:

- blood in the urine;
- nausea and vomiting;
- an urgent feeling of needing to urinate;
- shivers and fever; and
- passing small stones in the urine (gravel).

When a stone starts to move into the urinary tract, a person may experience 'renal colic', which is an intense pain in the back, just below the ribs. The pain commonly radiates down into the groin — and the testicle in men.

Risk factors

Men tend to get kidney stones two to three times as often as women. The peak incidence of kidney stones is between the ages of 20 to 40 years, but people of any age can be affected. People who have had recurrent urine infections and people who have a family history of kidney stones are more susceptible to developing them, as are people with gout.

Tests for kidney stones

A plain X-ray of the abdomen can identify the majority of stones, showing their size and location in the urinary system. A non-contrast CT scan of the kidneys, ureters and bladder (CT KUB) is often recommended when kidney stones are suspected. The CT machine rotates around the body to take pictures, and shows all types of kidney stones. An ultrasound of your abdomen can also be useful in diagnosing kidney stones. Intravenous pyelogram (IVP) is a test where dye is used to highlight the kidneys on an X-ray. An IVP can identify obstruction to the flow of urine that may be associated with a stone lodged in the urinary system, but requires the use of injected contrast dye (which can have side effects). Your doctor may also suggest a blood test or urine tests to see if you are over-excreting minerals, or have a lack of the chemicals that inhibit crystal formation. Analysing the stone itself can also provide useful information to prevent future stones forming.

Treatment

Most kidney stones that are less than 5 mm in diameter will pass naturally without any specific treatment. In these cases, drinking adequate water can help. Pain relievers, such as non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDS), can be used to treat pain and discomfort associated with kidney stones. Stones may need to be removed if:

- they are too large to pass on their own;
- they are causing severe pain or bleeding, or
- they are causing other problems, such as blockage of urine or infection.

Treatments which can be used when a stone needs to be removed include the following.

- Stone fragmentation using lithotripters or lasers. Extracorporeal shockwave lithotripsy (ESWL).
- Some stones can be directly removed from the ureter by a ureteroscope.
- Percutaneous nephrolithotomy involves a small incision in the back and the insertion of a needle-thin.

Prevention of stones

The following tips can help prevent the development of kidney stones.

- Drink plenty of water. People who have previously had a stone should drink enough fluids, especially water, to ensure their urine is dilute in appearance.
- Some types of kidney stone can be avoided by restricting particular foods and avoid added salt.
- Review your medicines with your doctor, as some medicines can increase your risk of developing stones.
- See your doctor at the first sign of a urinary tract infection.
- Depending on the type of kidney stone you have had, there are some medicines that can help prevent stones forming again (e.g. allopurinol lowers the uric acid level in urine and can help prevent uric acid stones).

Dave Everett, the model maker and poet

By Roman Kulkewycz

Seventy four year old Dave Everett from Garfield is a popular member of the Hillview Bunyip Men's Shed. He has been making machinery models out of wood for many years and has produced some magnificent replicas in that time. A retired Fitter and Turner, Dave's mind is attuned to all things mechanical.

His latest creation is a replica of a 'Horizontal Gas Engine' which was first used in the early 1900s to power machines, tractors, water pumps and other such uses. His models are accurately made and to scale.

However it has come to light recently that not only is Dave a fastidious craftsman, he is also a very talented poet who has written a poem that accurately reflects the characters and the typical atmosphere of the Hillview Bunyip Men's Shed.

The popularity of this poem with his mates at the Men's Shed prompted Dave to write a poem for his son Sam's wedding last month which was received with much applause and appreciation with the wedding guests.

Will Dave continue to write more poetry? If the positive reaction and encouragement of the readers continues, there could be many more to come.

Below is a photo of Dave with one of his replicas. This one is of a 1900's Horizontal Gas Engine made out of wood which took him approximately 40 hours to make.

*The sound of cheerful banter echoes off the wall
Our members meet on Wednesdays, with stories short

*Machinery makes noises, sometimes quite a din
But louder voices overcome and manage to fit in Some people are quite busy, others do sod all
But generally at Men's Shed we usually have a ball*

*Big lumps of timber cut up smaller
Projects small and sometimes taller
Ideas float round and get forgotten
"Too hard mate" is the cry more often*

*Nuts and bolts and tools abound
Put in boxes never found
"It was there last week" – the plaintive cry
As hunters gather, standing by*

The men no longer in the house as peace is what they seek Tall tales are told and jokes repeated
Not hard work, when one stays seated*

Snags and chips are on the menu
No waitress service at this venue*

Perhaps we need a squirt of oil
To keep us on this mortal coil*

To make us last another day*

What is said don't really matter*

Don't just stack it and burn it, says EPA

Environment Protection Authority Victoria (EPA) says a hefty fine issued over a pile of burning pile farm waste in southwest Victoria is a warning to rural landholders everywhere, including Gippsland.

EPA Gippsland Region Manager Jessica Bandiera said the fire cost a dairy company more than $8,000, after EPA officers found the pile, containing plastic, wire, soil and hay, still burning when they arrived.

"The pile also included a 20-litre plastic chemical drum, fence posts, ash and bailing twine. It was industrial waste and should have been taken for proper disposal," Ms Bandiera said.

EPA issued the company with a fine of $8,060 for permitting the discard of industrial waste through burning, a breach of Section 27 of the Environment Protection Act.

The burning pile was approximately four metres square and 1.8 metres high, with grey smoke and flames visible when EPA's officers arrived. They were told the fire had started through spontaneous combustion several days before. A company representative told EPA the local CFA brigade had been called to fight a similar spontaneous fire in a pile of waste at the farm 12 months earlier.

Environment
Protection
Authority Victoria

"Getting rid of mixed piles of farm waste by burning them may have been the practice of previous generations, but it is now recognised that it creates a significant risk to the environment and can impact people's health," Ms Bandiera said.

"Materials like these should go to recycling or an appropriate landfill. The company has now introduced a waste management process to ensure that such incidents do not happen in the future. Discarding industrial waste in such a way can cause land pollution and groundwater contamination that affect future generations," she said.

EPA issued a legally enforceable Clean Up Notice requiring the company to remove the remaining waste for proper disposal.

"This is another case where a report from a member of the public made all the difference. EPA officers were able to respond while the fire was still burning and ensure it was extinguished promptly, helping to reduce the amount of damage done to the environment," Ms Bandiera said.

Members of the public can report all types of pollution to the EPA 24-hour hotline on 1300 372 842 or at the EPA website www.epa.vic.gov.au.

EPA releases PFAS testing results

Results from an Environment Protection Authority Victoria's (EPA) state-wide waterfowl (duck) testing program have not shown a widespread presence of PFAS (per- and poly-fluorinated alkyl substances) above health guideline limits in the wetlands that were tested. EPA conducted the testing following concerns that arose after consumption advice for sites in Gippsland was issued.

While most tests did not show PFAS above the human health guidelines, the results from tests on ducks taken from Macleod Morass in Bairnsdale, East Gippsland and Hospital Swamp near Barwon Heads have. EPA is advising children and adults that livers from ducks taken at the Macleod Morass Wetland and Hospital Swamp should not be consumed and consumption of duck breast meat should be limited to one serve (75g) per month for children. EPA Chief Environmental Scientist, Dr Andrea Hinwood said It was only possible to collect ducks for testing from a limited number of wetlands around the state.

"As the testing was limited, EPA is not claiming to have definitively mapped PFAS throughout the state, but the results are indicative that, while PFAS can be found almost anywhere, it is not usually above guideline limits. We recommend that hunters should exercise caution when consuming ducks from sites nearby wetlands with current health advisories. For example, Reedy Lake is within 2km of Hospital Swamp and ducks can freely move between these wetlands. Waterfowl collected from Reedy Lake should be treated the same as those collected from Hospital Swamp until more evidence is collected. EPA will be investigating PFAS concentrations further in these areas," said Dr Hinwood

PFAS are a group of man-made substances, many of which are in widespread and common use including in historic firefighting foams and in home products like non-stick pans and carpet treatments. While there is still no consistent evidence that PFAS cause any specific illness in humans, they can persist in humans for many years. EPA is taking a cautionary approach to minimise risk and recommends against consumption of animal products or water where PFAS levels are considered high. The full report will be published on the EPA website soon. Consumption Advice Fact Sheets are available at www.epa.vic.gov.au/our-work/publications/publication/2019/march. 1732 – recreationally harvested waterfowl; 1735 – recreationally caught fish; 1736 – ambient concentrations of PFAS.

Gippsland Bushfires Community Appeal

Emergency Management Victoria (EMV) has partnered with Bendigo Bank to establish the 2019 Gippsland Bushfires Community Appeal in support of community members affected by the recent south east Victoria fires. The Fund aims to support communities across Cardinia, Wellington, Baw Baw, East Gippsland and Latrobe areas where the fires destroyed homes and impacted communities. The Fund provides a formal channel for the public to donate money directly to affected communities and is designed to achieve positive outcomes for the community, by working directly with local recovery committees and structures to inform and drive the distribution of funds. Donations to can be made at any Bendigo Bank branch or online www.communityenterprisefoundation.com.au/make-a-donation/appeals/2019-gippsland-bushfire-appeal.

Funds raised will be used for a range of locally identified charitable initiatives such as clean-up activities, business support or counselling, temporary fencing, and water quality control measures. Anyone wishing to support their local community is encouraged to donate directly to this Fund, as monetary donations are effective and provide more flexibility than the donation of material items or pre-loved goods.

Letters to the Editor

Bushfire updates on bottom of TV screen

I have come across people who have said that they no longer have any confidence in the accuracy of bushfire updates that run across the bottom of TV screens. I have heard many say, "Oh, I saw that same update yesterday." Eventually no one will believe or take any notice of those TV updates – which defeats the whole purpose of having them there. I believe that it's essential that all of those updates show the date and time of issue. A simple thing like this would make a huge difference of restoring public confidence in the accuracy of the updates.

Criticism about recent fires when they're heroes

Bunyip Tennis Club news

The Bunyip Tennis Club committee would like to send thoughts and best wishes to everyone who has been impacted by the recent bushfires, including club members. Our community has been amazing in the way it has pulled together and as a club we plan to provide as much support and assistance as we can over the coming months with members of our club already throwing themselves into volunteering and fund-raising efforts.

BlazeAid

Members and visitors to our club will notice some changes to the activity in and around clubhouse with the arrival of BlazeAid into our town. The tennis / netball rooms are being used for the next few months by BlazeAid as their hub to co-ordinate the operation, for farmers to register and for the team to prepare breakfast and lunch for the volunteers. All tennis coaching, competitions and social play will continue as planned, and the BlazeAid team would love for you to pop in for a cuppa and to say hello.

Lois Brown Round Robin

On Sunday 17th February, we held our bi-annual round robin tournament. This year it was in memory of our dear friend, Lois Brown, a well-known local artist and a valued member of the club for many years, who we sadly lost to cancer last year. Having been forced to cancel the tournament earlier in the month due to the hot weather, we had a great turn out, running an A grade and a B grade tournament in conjunction with Melbourne Tennis Month. Club committee member Tyson Dennis and guest Dean McGee remained undefeated all day and took out the A grade title, and club member Peter Fullerton and guest Craig Morris were victors in the B grade competition. Congratulations to the four of you.

Mid-Week Senior Competition

We have reached the final stages of the Summer competition and as we go to press Bunyip Blue (Tyson Dennis, Ian Balfour, Rob Butler, Vanessa Kent and Leonie Miller) are due to meet Bunyip Green (Cameron Reid, Scott Squires, Hayden Morehu, Scott Murphy and Greg Gallasch) in the Section 2 Grand Final, having finished 1st and 2nd in the ladder respectively.

Junior Competition

We are also approaching the finals of the Saturday morning junior competition with the club represented in the upcoming finals to be held at the Pakenham Regional Tennis Centre. Results will follow in next month's newsletter.

If you have any enquiries about tennis lessons or competition, please contact Chris Millidonis on 0404 077 673 or email aceactivetennis@ymail.com. For all membership enquiries contact Vanessa Kent on 0401 422 084 or email vckent@hotmail.com.

Rotary Club of Bunyip-Garfield

2019 Annual Golf Day

The Club held its Annual Charity Golf Day on Wednesday March 6th at the picturesque Garfield Golf Club. The day was a little on the squally side but later calmed down to what was tremendous golfing weather.

Fifty-one players took to the manicured fairways and greens in what was to be a fun filled day.

Unfortunately I'm not sure of the final figure but I do know that everyone gave generously to the club.

The Rotary Club of Bunyip Garfield would like to thank our sponsors whose generosity was very much appreciated. Bunyip & District Community® Bank, Barry Plant Real Estate (Terri Fellows), John Duff & Co, Country Style Meats, Brewsters, Golf Clearance Outlet, Red Gem Packers and Safe Roads all contributed in some way. The club would also like to thank the Garfield Golf Club and the many people who toiled in the kitchen preparing lunch and dinner.

Here are the results from the day.

Runner Up Tony Power

Men's B – Winner

Monthly local police update

(8th November 2018 to 25th February 2019)

By Sergeant Danny Hower, Victoria Police

I hope everyone one is well and I apologise if there has been a recent lack of regular local police content in the newsletters. There is an avalanche of change and planning going on in our business which sometimes detracts from our perceived duties. All good here and we're on top of it. Plenty of "normal" police work going on so please keep letting us where you think we can go and help. There have been some very well organised family based community events on recently and it has been great to be involved and see everyone out and having a good time responsibly.

Some of the investigations and incidents we've been involved in or had reported to us locally in the past three months areas follows.

- Four separate people reported missing and later located.
  - Four cars burnt and dumped locally on different occasions. Three of them recovered in the Tynong North area of Bunyip State Park after being reported as stolen from Hampton Park, Pakenham and Monbulk. The fourth car which had been stolen from Ascot Vale and involved in police pursuits, was then set alight in Cora Lynn. A 38 year old Narre Warren man was arrested after further investigation.
  - Another man is under investigation after running away from the company car that he wrote off by colliding into rear of another vehicle which had been travelling in the same direction as him on the Princes Freeway. His car also mysteriously caught fire on the side of the road about 6 hours later.
  - Twenty one Family Incident reports. Eight in Bunyip; five in Nar Nar Goon; two each in Tynong and Maryknoll; one each in Garfield, Vervale, Bunyip North and Tynong North.
  - Forty five referrals for counselling and/or assistance from other agencies.
  - Twenty two people injured in 13 different motor vehicle collisions involving a variety of different moving and fixed objects throughout the area. This included motorised scooters, motor bikes, cars, trees, embankments, steep roads, safety barriers, drugs, alcohol and animals.
  - Four reports of damage. A gate in Tonimbuk; a car in Maryknoll and another in Tynong North; fencing and water pipes in Garfield.
  - Graffiti in public areas at Nar Nar Goon, Garfield and Garfield North.
  - More reports of Illegal shooting and associated activity in Tonimbuk and Tynong North.
- Three firearms storage inspections were conducted.
  - Twenty people arrested and charged with criminal offences.
  - Forty six infringement notices (fines) issued. Eleven of them on the one morning between 5:30am and 7:40 am, on the one local road between Longwarry and Nar Nar Goon, and all drivers had residential postcodes listed between 3812 to 3816.
  - A 4WD stolen from Cora Lynn which was chased by the owner and recovered in Pakenham South; tractor stolen from Vervale which was located hidden behind bush on a private property in Nar Nar Goon; two trailers from Nar Nar Goon North, one from Tynong North; ATV from commercial premises in Tynong North; car from the Bunyip North Princes Highway Service Road.
  - Stolen from Nar Nar Goon area. Two saddles; a laptop computer; firearms from a locked safe; railway cabling from railway line; petrol and a trailer from the service station; primary school broken into.
  - Stolen from Tynong. Cigarettes and keys; train guidance lights from railway line.
  - Stolen from Garfield. Tools and jerry cans; large quantities of diesel on separate occasions from a commercial yard; electric golf buggy.
  - In separate Bunyip retail incidents a 33 year old Pakenham lady was charged with theft of ice creams, and a 44 year old Moe man was charged with theft of alcohol (again) and remanded in custody.
  - A 27 year old homeless Avonsleigh man arrested for three outstanding warrants and also charged with the theft of tyres from a Tonimbuk property.
  - In separate incidents a local man and lady (who are not related) had their cars impounded and face court again as a result of very bad driving, no licences and being under influence of drugs.
  - A 30 year old Bunyip North man who is evasive to police and courts was arrested for family violence matters, serious driving offences, and three outstanding court warrants.
- Please contact us for any assistance or advice. Call 000 if you think you need police or emergency service attendance, or email / letterbox etc. for anything else. We enjoy the contact and it is all relevant somewhere. We're also good for an informal chat if you've got concerns about something.

Hillview silver anniversary celebrations changed

Plans to celebrate Hillview Bunyip Aged Care's 25th Silver Anniversary on Friday 29th March at 7pm have been changed as the works of art planned for display have been destroyed by the recent bushfires.

Hillview's Board President, Sue Beattie said that despite the tragic loss of these pieces of local art, the Silver Anniversary celebrations will still go ahead with a gathering and the cutting of a special anniversary cake. For all bookings and enquiries can be made by contacting Hillview Bunyip Aged Care on 03 5629 6096.
